

LAMAR UNIVERSITY

MEMBER THE TEXAS STATE UNIVERSITY SYSTEM™

Lamar University currently offers three different types of dual credit courses:

LEAP (Lamar Early Access Program)

These courses are taught by high school teachers on the high school campus. The teacher must hold a Master's degree in the discipline of the dual credit course(s) being taught or a Master's degree with 18 graduate hours in the discipline of the course(s) being taught.

Instructors of LEAP courses are paid by the high school/district at which they teach, but since their course will result in university credit for students, they must also complete a Lamar University hiring packet.

LIS (Lamar Instructors in Schools)

Per high school or district request and pending availability of instructors, Lamar will send faculty to high school campuses to teach dual credit courses.

Online Dual Credit Courses

Online courses are taught by Lamar University faculty. High school students enrolled in online dual credit courses should be provided with access to computers during the school day/week in a computer lab or setting that is supervised by a high school teacher or staff member.

For additional information about these dual credit courses or to set up an agreement between a high school/district and Lamar University to offer these courses, please contact the Dual Credit program coordinator – Ms. Lara Jagneaux – at 409-659-1322 or via email at lara.jagneaux@lamar.edu.
